Organization-wide awareness and Undertakings on policies with Zero Tolerance

The Cochin College is committed to providing a secure and supportive learning environment for its students. To uphold this commitment, the college has established several key committees, including the Anti-Ragging Committee, Internal Complaints Cell, Student Grievance Redressal Cell, Equal Opportunity Cell, and SC/ST Cell. The Anti-Ragging Committee, in particular, is dedicated to ensuring a safe and welcoming environment for all students. This is demonstrated through a comprehensive approach to prevent ragging, making sure the campus remains free from any form of harassment or intimidation.

An important part of this initiative is the Orientation Programme for students. During these sessions, the principles of mutual respect and the college's strict zero-tolerance policy towards ragging are communicated. These orientations lay the foundation for promoting a culture of kindness and inclusivity among students.

Throughout the academic year, a variety of activities are organized to reinforce the anti-ragging message. Workshops, seminars, and interactive sessions are carefully planned to educate students about the harmful effects of ragging and the importance of maintaining a supportive community. These activities not only inform but also encourage students to engage in meaningful discussions about their role in creating a positive campus atmosphere. Additionally, parents are informed about the anti-ragging policies in place, ensuring a collaborative effort in maintaining these standards. This communication highlights the college's dedication to student safety and well-being.

Tutors play a crucial role in sharing information about anti-ragging policies. Through the college handbook and the official website, students receive clear guidelines on acceptable conduct. These resources serve as constant reminders of the college's expectations and the serious consequences of violating the anti-ragging policy. Teachers across various departments regularly remind students to avoid ragging and warn them about the severe consequences of such actions. This ongoing reinforcement from faculty members emphasizes the seriousness of the issue and the college's strong stance against ragging.

Regular department and association meetings are held to address any concerns related to ragging. These meetings provide students with an opportunity to voice their concerns and seek solutions in a supportive environment. The committee's proactive approach ensures that any issues are quickly and effectively resolved.

Anti-ragging posters are strategically placed in visible areas across the campus. These posters serve as visual reminders of the college's policy against ragging and provide students with information on how to seek help if needed. Their presence acts as a constant deterrent to potential incidents of ragging. Additionally, students are required to fill out online affidavits affirming their commitment to avoiding ragging. This formal declaration reinforces the seriousness of the college's efforts to eliminate ragging. The Anti Ragging Committee of The Cochin College remains committed to ensuring a safe and

2 Poster Campaigns

Anti-ragging posters are strategically placed in prominent locations across the campus. These visual reminders reinforce the college's stance against ragging and provide students with information on how to seek help if needed. The visibility of these posters serves as a constant deterrent to any potential incidents of ragging.

- Strategic Display: Posters are designed and displayed across the campus in strategic locations such as hostels, cafeterias, libraries, and common areas. These posters highlight the procedures for grievance redressal, the functioning of the Internal Complaints Committee (ICC), and the Anti-Ragging Cell.
- Key Information: The posters include crucial contact details of committee members and emergency helplines, ensuring that students know where and how to seek help if needed. The visual presence of these posters reinforces the institution's commitment to maintaining a safe and inclusive campus environment.

3 Oath-Taking Against Ragging

- Oath-Taking Ceremony: At the beginning of each academic year, an oath-taking ceremony is organized where all students pledge to stand against ragging and uphold the values of respect and dignity for all members of the campus community. This collective pledge reinforces the institution's zero-tolerance policy towards ragging and serves as a powerful reminder of the shared responsibility to maintain a safe and welcoming environment.
- Involvement of Faculty and Administration: Faculty members and administrative staff also participate in the oath-taking ceremony, demonstrating the institution's unified stance against ragging. The ceremony may include speeches from key figures in the institution, emphasizing the importance of mutual respect and the serious consequences of engaging in ragging.

4 Anti-ragging Awareness Programmes

A variety of activities are organised throughout the academic year to reinforce the anti-ragging message. Workshops, seminars, and interactive sessions are meticulously planned to educate students about the adverse effects of ragging and the importance of maintaining a supportive community. These activities are designed not only to inform but also to engage students in meaningful dialogues about their roles in fostering a positive campus atmosphere. Parents are promptly notified about the anti-ragging policies in place. By involving parents, the committee ensures a collaborative effort in upholding these standards. This communication underscores the college's commitment to the safety and well-being of its students.

- Anti-Ragging Day: The institution observes Anti-Ragging Day each year, dedicating the day to raising awareness about the dangers and legal consequences of ragging. Activities on this day may include seminars, guest lectures, and discussions focused on promoting a ragging-free campus.
- #YaARIYouthAgainstRagging Campaign: As part of Anti-Ragging Week, the institution participates in the national #YaARIYouthAgainstRagging campaign, encouraging students to take a stand against ragging through social media and other platforms. This campaign amplifies the institution's message, reaching a broader audience and fostering a community of youth committed to eradicating ragging.

Orientation by Tutors: Tutors play a pivotal role in disseminating information regarding anti-ragging policies.

Through the college handbook and the official website, students are provided with clear guidelines and instructions on acceptable conduct. These resources serve as constant reminders of the college's expectations and the serious consequences of violating the anti-ragging policy. All the teachers across various departments consistently remind students to refrain from ragging and warn them of the drastic consequences should they be caught engaging in such activities. This continuous reinforcement from faculty members emphasises the gravity of the issue and the college's unwavering stance against ragging. Systematic department and association meetings are regularly conducted to address any grievances related to ragging. These forums provide students with the opportunity to voice their concerns and seek redressal in a structured and supportive environment. The proactive approach of the committee ensures that any issues are swiftly and effectively resolved.

5 Anti-Ragging Affidavit

- Mandatory Submission: As part of the admission process, every student and their parents/guardians are required to submit an anti-ragging affidavit. This affidavit is a formal declaration agreeing to abide by the institution's anti-ragging policy and acknowledging the consequences of engaging in ragging activities. Moreover, students are required to fill out online affidavits affirming their commitment to abstain from ragging. This formal declaration binds students to adhere to the anti-ragging policy, underscoring the seriousness of the college's efforts to eradicate ragging.
- Legal Compliance: The submission of the anti-ragging affidavit is in line with the directives of the UGC and the legal requirements for educational institutions. This step ensures that students and their families are fully aware of the seriousness of the institution's anti-ragging stance.

These combined efforts under the umbrella of organization-wide awareness ensure that all students are continuously reminded of the institution's zero-tolerance stance, are well-informed about the resources and support available to
