Overview

The Anti-Ragging Cell at The Cochin College is committed to preventing any form of ragging within the institution. The cell is responsible for monitoring student behavior, addressing complaints of ragging, and organizing preventive measures to ensure a welcoming atmosphere for all students, especially newcomers.

Activities and Initiatives

- Anti-Ragging Awareness Week: The cell organized an Anti-Ragging Awareness Week, featuring activities such as seminars, debates, and poster-making competitions. These events were designed to educate students about the dangers of ragging and the legal consequences associated with it.
- Dheeksharamb Student Induction Programme: As part of the Dheeksharamb Student Induction Programme, first-year students were given a comprehensive orientation on the institution's anti-ragging policies, the support available to them, and the importance of maintaining a respectful community. This induction program played a significant role in easing the transition for new students and ensuring they felt safe and supported.
- Monitoring and Patrolling: The Discipline Squad and Anti-Ragging Squad conducted regular monitoring and patrolling across the campus, including hostels and common areas. This proactive approach ensured that no incidents of ragging occurred during the academic year.
- Class Tutor Support: Class tutors maintained a good rapport with first-year students, encouraging them to discuss any issues openly. This ongoing communication helped in identifying and addressing concerns early, contributing to the prevention of ragging incidents.
